Berkeley Law/JSP alum Eric Feldman will be back in the Bay Area for the coming academic year. Unfortunately for Berkeley, he is visiting at that other law school between San Jose and San Francisco. Feldman's recent work has considered both rights and commercial law in Japan. His memorably titled "The Tuna Court: Law and Norms in the World's Premier Fish Market, 94 CAL. L. REV. (2006) included amazing color photos of tuna slabs in Tokyo's famed Tsukiji fish market. Eric is the author or editor of three books (two of which have been translated into Japanese):

UNFILTERED: CONFLICTS OVER TOBACCO POLICY AND PUBLIC HEALTH, Eric A. Feldman and Ronald Bayer, eds., Cambridge, MA: Harvard University Press, 2004.

KETSUEKI KURASASU (translation of Blood Feuds: AIDS, Blood, and the Politics of Medical Disaster), Tokyo: Gendai Junbun-Sha Co., Ltd, 2004.

NIHON NI OKERU KENRI NO KATAI: KENRI-ISHIKI NO REKISHI TO HATTEN (translation of The Ritual of Rights in Japan), Tokyo: Gendai Junbun-Sha Co., Ltd, 2003.

THE RITUAL OF RIGHTS IN JAPAN: LAW, SOCIETY, AND HEALTH POLICY, New York: Cambridge University Press, 2000.

BLOOD FEUDS: AIDS, BLOOD, AND THE POLITICS OF MEDICAL DISASTER, Eric A. Feldman and Ronald Bayer, eds., New York: Oxford University Press, 1999.

In addition to teaching at NYU's Institute for Law & Society (1996-2001) and Penn Law School (2001 to the present), Eric is associated with the Center for Bioethics and the Center for Asian Studies, both of the University of Pennsylvania.
