THE HONORABLE G. WILLIAM AND ARIADNA MILLER INSTITUTE FOR GLOBAL CHALLENGES AND THE LAW

Since 2007, the Honorable G. William and Ariadna Miller Institute for Global Challenges and the Law has been at the heart of Berkeley Law's international enterprise. Founded by a generous gift from G. William and Ariadna Miller, the Institute is a research and policy center on international law and policy. Through interdisciplinary collaborations and institutional partnerships, the Miller Institute addresses urgent challenges that demand creative global approaches, including promoting the rule of law, advancing climate and energy justice, and reconceptualizing armed conflict and the use of force.

G. WILLIAM MILLER (1925-2006)

A celebrated Berkeley Law alumnus ('52), G. William Miller served as the U.S. Secretary of the Treasury under President Carter and the 11th Chairman of the Federal Reserve. He was an officer in the U.S. Coast Guard, and led a distinguished career in business and investment banking.

Miller was a lifelong supporter of Berkeley Law, serving on the school's Campaign Cabinet. As national chairman of the Distinguished Professors Project in 1986, he helped raise $1.2 million to endow chairs honoring Berkeley Law professors. Miller was also the 1979 recipient of the Citation Award, the Boalt Hall Alumni Association's highest honor, and was recognized with the UC Berkeley Foundation Trustee's Citation in 1987.

He was deeply committed to enabling work to promote the rule of law as a means to ensure that nations share a set of values without sacrificing their individual cultures. The Miller Institute seeks to further his vision.

OPENING INTERNATIONAL DOORS FOR STUDENTS

The Miller Institute makes it possible for students to launch their international law careers from Berkeley, starting with fostering all-important contacts with faculty and fellow students.

The Institute began the year with an August 2012 welcome reception for incoming international law students, reaching out to 1Ls and to our new LL.Ms. International law faculty and 2/3Ls introduced themselves and described the many opportunities available at Berkeley Law.

In the fall semester, Remi Moncel ('15) won a Miller Institute-sponsored contest for a complimentary one-year student membership in the American Society of International Law (ASIL). The Miller Institute also supported his travel to and participation in ASIL's annual meeting in Washington, DC in the spring.

Other student leaders who received travel support from the Miller Institute for their scholarship and advocacy include:

Courtney Bowman ('13), Robert Landicho ('13), and Matthew Pelnar ('13), of the Iraqi Refugee Assistance Project, who visited clients and local partners in Amman, Jordan.

Shaina Hyder ('14), who was honored in Washington, DC with a "World of Difference for Women under 25 Award," given by The International Alliance for Women for her research on Bangladeshi female garment workers.

Darren Modzelewski ('13), who also received his Ph.D. in Anthropology from UC Berkeley, traveled to Amman, Jordan to attend the World Archaeological Congress.

Patrik Salzmänn ('12) attended the 23rd Annual Institute for Transnational Arbitration Workshop on "Deliberations, Award and Enforcement" held in Dallas, Texas.

CERTIFICATE OF SPECIALIZATION IN INTERNATIONAL LAW

In May 2013, the Miller Institute was proud to honor thirty students who obtained the Certificate of Specialization in International Law. This was the largest group in the four-year history of the certificate program. Demonstrating the international appeal of the certificate, the honorees consisted of an equal numbers of JD and LLM students. Professor Katerina Linos hosted the reception, which also featured remarks by Professor Richard Buxbaum.

RESEARCH AND TEACHING

Berkeley Law is one of the leading institutions – ranked number five in the United States – for the study of international law. It seeks to advance the understanding of international affairs through the analysis of international law, politics, and business. Faculty members work on the cutting edge of legal scholarship, combining traditional doctrinal and institutional analysis with the latest interdisciplinary perspectives. The Miller Institute supports innovative faculty research and teaching in a variety of ways.

ENRICHING THE CURRICULUM

Colloquium on International Law and Politics

Co-sponsored with the Institute of International Studies. Led by Professors Katerina Linos and David Caron, the Colloquium brought leading international law scholars to Berkeley to present works-in-progress. Our distinguished speakers included Ryan Goodman (NYU), Odette Lienau (Cornell), Catherine Powell (Fordham), Kal Raustiala (UCLA), Greg Schaffer (Minnesota), Mike Tomz (Stanford), and Matt Waxman (Columbia).

Student International Humanitarian Law Workshop

Co-sponsored with the International Committee of the Red Cross. Led by Director of Research and Programs Kate Jastram, this four-day intensive, highly interactive workshop drew forty law students from around the country, with faculty from the ICRC, the U.S. Army Judge Advocate General's Legal Center and School, and leading law schools and advocacy organizations.

KEY PARTNERS IN ADDRESSING GLOBAL CHALLENGES AND THE LAW

The Miller Institute works closely with three international law-oriented student groups:

- Berkeley Journal of International Law and its online publication Travaux
- Boalt Hall Committee for Human Rights
- International Law Society

In addition, the Miller Institute facilitated Berkeley Law students' membership for the first time in the State Bar of California International Law Section's International Law Society Advisory Committee. Amy Belsher ('14) and Holly Hoch ('13) were named as representatives to the International Law Society Advisory Committee.

Berkeley Law, through the Miller Institute, is an Academic Partner of the American Society of International Law (ASIL), which provides recognition, participation, promotion, education and access for our students and faculty. Faculty holding key leadership positions in ASIL this year included Executive Council member Professor Andrew Guzman; Professor Saira Mohamed, Co-Chair of the Human Rights Interest Group; and Miller's Director of Research and Programs Kate Jastram, Executive Committee member of the Lieber Society for Armed Conflict Interest Group.

Through the Miller Institute's Initiative on Armed Conflict and International Law, headed by Director of Research and Programs Kate Jastram, Berkeley Law partners with the International Committee of the Red Cross (ICRC) on a number of research, publishing, and teaching events, including a Student IHL Workshop for forty law students held over the winter break.

EXCELLENCE RECOGNIZED: FACULTY HONORS AND AWARDS

Andrew Guzman, Jackson H. Ralston Professor of Law and Associate Dean of International and Graduate Programs, was among the six Berkeley Law professors who received faculty chairs on May 1 during a ceremony at the University Club inside Memorial Stadium. Nominated by a committee of faculty colleagues, the professors were honored for their scholarly achievements and teaching excellence.
