

Religion, Law, and State in Israel

Evening Lecture Series for Students

MULTICULTURAL ENTRAPMENTS:

The Jurisdiction of the Palestinian-Arab Religious Communities in Israel

Michael Karayanni

The Bruce W. Wayne Chair in International Law,
The Hebrew University of Jerusalem

Moderator: Ori Aronson

Assistant Professor, Bar-Ilan Faculty of Law;
Visiting Professor, Berkeley Institute for Jewish Law and Israel Studies

February 18, 2015 | 5:40 pm | 295 Boalt Hall

Food and Drinks Provided
Reception at 5:40 pm, Lecture at 6 pm

Professor Karayanni will examine the tension between Israel's framework of religious pluralism and its promotion of civic liberal values. He will examine the Palestinian minority in Israel as a case study and explore the particular challenges and potential remedies.

Michael Karayanni is the Bruce W. Wayne Professor of Law at the Faculty of Law, Hebrew University of Jerusalem. He was the director of the Harry and Michael Sacher Institute for Legislative Research and Comparative Law and the Minerva Center for Human Rights. His most recent book is Conflicts in Conflict, A Conflict of Laws Case Study of Israel and the Palestinian Territories (Oxford University Press, 2014).

RSVP Requested

Please RSVP to berkeley_institute@law.berkeley.edu

BerkeleyLaw
UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA

Berkeley Institute for Jewish Law and Israel Studies

Religion, Politics & Globalization Program
UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, BERKELEY