Revolution and Change in the Middle East: Policy Challenges for the U.S.

Hon. Daniel C. Kurtzer

S. Daniel Abraham Professor in Middle East Policy Studies, Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs, Princeton University
Former United States Ambassador to Egypt
Former United States Ambassador to Israel

Revolutions, counter-revolutions and peace-process stagnation are presenting unprecedented challenges for the U.S. in the Middle East.

Can the U.S. influence change or is the "American era" in the region drawing to a close?

Please Join Us:
Tuesday
August 30, 2011
4:00 PM
University of California
223 Moses Hall
Berkeley, CA

For questions please contact: Daniella Beinisch at: dbeinisch@law.berkeley.edu

PRESENTED BY: