

Gary L. Simms is a Certified Appellate Specialist who was a Senior Staff Attorney for almost nine years at the California Supreme Court, where he first worked for former Associate Justice David Eagleson and, later, current Associate Justice Marvin Baxter. While at the Court, Gary worked on numerous death-penalty appeals. For the past 17 years, Gary's appellate practice has been primarily for plaintiffs in wrongful death and personal injury cases. He is a member of the Amicus Curiae Committee of the Consumer Attorneys of California and has taught legal research and writing at the Hastings College of Law. He received his J.D. magna cum laude from the University of Houston where he served on the law review.
