

ELIZABETH ANDERSEN
Executive Vice President and Executive Director
American Society of International Law

Elizabeth (Betsy) Andersen is Executive Director and Executive Vice President of the American Society of International Law (ASIL), a position she has held since 2006.

Previously she served as the Executive Director of the American Bar Association's Central European and Eurasian Law Initiative (ABA CEELI), and as Executive Director of Human Rights Watch's Europe & Central Asia Division. Earlier in her career, she served as Legal Assistant to Judge Georges Abi-Saab of the International Criminal Tribunal for the former Yugoslavia and as a law clerk to Judge Kimba M. Wood of the U.S. District Court of the Southern District of New York.

Ms. Andersen is a graduate of Yale Law School, the Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs at Princeton University, and Williams College, from which she received the College's Bicentennial Medal in 2006. Her areas of expertise are international humanitarian, human rights, and refugee law, international development, and the law of international organizations.

She serves as a member of the governing boards of Williams College, the American Bar Association Rule of Law Initiative, the International Law Institute, and the Friends of the Law Library of Congress; and as a member of advisory committees of the American University Academy on Human Rights and Humanitarian Law, the International Senior Lawyers Project, the Antonio Cassese Initiative for Justice, Peace, and Humanity, and the Journal of International Humanitarian Legal Studies. She is an adjunct professor of law at the American University Washington College of Law.
