

MICHAEL NACHT

Thomas and Alison Schneider Professor of Public Policy
Goldman School of Public Policy
UC Berkeley

Michael Nacht is a specialist in US national security policy and in management strategies for complex organizations. He co-authored two chapters on nuclear proliferation and homeland security in Stephen Maurer (ed.), WMD Terrorism: Science and Policy Choices (MIT Press, 2009). His books include The Age of Vulnerability: Threats to the Nuclear Stalemate (Brookings, 1985) and Missing the Boat: The Failure to Internationalize American Higher Education (Cambridge University Press, 1991), co-author. He has published more than 70 articles on US nuclear weapons policy and arms control, strategic issues in East Asia and the Middle East, and cyber security.

Professor Nacht has had three tours of government service, most recently as Assistant Secretary of Defense for Global Strategic Affairs in the Obama Administration where he chaired the NATO High Level Group that shapes the Alliance's nuclear weapons policies.

He was Dean of the Goldman School of Public Policy from 1998-2008. Currently he chairs the University's International Strategy Task Force and is the policy head for the Nuclear Science and Security Consortium led by the Department of Nuclear Engineering.

He is listed in Who's Who in America, 2011.

He holds a B.S. in Aeronautics and Astronautics and an M.S. in Operations Research from New York University and a Ph.D. in Political Science from Columbia University.