Jefferson Memorial Lectures

The Jefferson Memorial Lectures were established in 1944 through a bequest from Elizabeth Bonestell and her husband Cutler L. Bonestell. A prominent San Francisco couple, the Bonestells cared deeply for history and had hoped that the lectures would encourage students, faculty, visiting scholars, and others to study the legacy of Thomas Jefferson and to explore values inherent in American democracy. The members of the Jefferson Lectures Committee are: Harry N. Scheiber, Law and History, Chair; William Banks, African American Studies; Lauren Edelman, Law and Sociology; Nelson Polsby, Political Science; Orville Schell, Journalism; and Andrew Szeri, Graduate Council Chair, ex officio.
