

Danny Chou is an Assistant County Counsel for the County of Santa Clara where he oversees appellate litigation, affirmative litigation, and probate litigation and advises the Santa Clara County Health and Hospital System and Department of Adult and Aging Services. Before joining the Santa Clara County Counsel's Office, Danny was the Chief of Complex and Special Litigation and the Chief of Appellate Litigation for the San Francisco City Attorney's Office. At the San Francisco City Attorney's Office, he was part of the team of attorneys that litigated the constitutionality of same sex marriage before the California Supreme Court (In re Marriage Cases) and the federal court (Perry v. Schwarzenegger). He also argued numerous cases before California and federal appellate courts, including two cases before the California Supreme Court – Welcher v. WCAB (2007) 40 Cal.4th 1313, and ISKCON v. City of Los Angeles (2010) 48 Cal.4th 446. In addition to his appearances before the California Supreme Court, Danny served as the Chief of Staff and a staff attorney for Justice Janice Rogers Brown (now a judge with the United States Court of Appeals for the D.C. Circuit) at the California Supreme Court for almost seven years. He has also served as a staff attorney for the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals, a law clerk to Judge Stanley A. Weigel at the United States District Court for the Northern District of California, and a litigation associate at Howard, Rice, Nemerovski, Canaday, Falk & Rabkin (now Arnold & Porter) – where he specialized in intellectual property litigation.