Ethics Code

The written code of ethics is provided to all detention personnel and volunteers to ensure that individuals do not use their official position to secure privileges for themselves or others and/or engage in activities that may constitute a conflict of interest.

Any violation of this code may result in disciplinary action and/or removal from the facility.

Detention personnel and volunteers must not:

1. Engage in undue familiarity with inmates or the family and friends of inmates. Whenever there is a reason for an employee or volunteer to have personal contact or discussions with an inmate or the family and friends of inmates, he/she must maintain a helpful but professional attitude and demeanor, and must not discuss their personal affairs with an inmate.
2. Contact or correspond with inmate or with any member of the inmate's family except as required by the employee's assigned duties or as specifically approved by the Inmate Programs Director, the Facility Manager or the Detention Division Captain. If a staff member or volunteer is contacted by an inmate or member of the inmate's family, other than under approved circumstances, he/she must immediately report the information to the Inmate Programs Director, the Facility Manager or Detention Division Captain.
3. Take or Send, either to or from any inmate, any verbal or written message, literature or reading matter, or any item, or article of substance except as necessary in carrying out the staff member's/volunteer's assigned duties.

REV: 1/2004

CUSTODY SERVICES BUREAU
BEHAVIOR GUIDELINES FOR VOLUNTEERS

1. Deputy Sheriffs have absolute authority. A deputy may tell a volunteer to leave the jail at any time. If you are told to leave, you must leave the facility immediately. Bring any questions or complaints to the program director, volunteer coordinator or facility manager.
2. Volunteers are permitted ONLY in areas in which they are scheduled to conduct their program during specified times. Each program schedules volunteers by facility, day of the week, time and housing unit. Volunteers may not deviate from the schedule, unless directed by detention personnel or advance approval from the program director or volunteer coordinator.
3. The detention facility is a very busy place. Be considerate of the detention personnel's time. Many things have to happen in each facility, meals, medical attention, laundry, counts, court, etc. Many things can cause delays. Be considerate if your program is delayed or cancelled.
4. If your work involves bringing in equipment, you must notify the Facility Manager for PRIOR approval. Make a list of the items. Be prepared to give the detention personnel a copy, which he/she may check as you enter the facility and again as you leave. Be sure that all items brought into the facility are accounted for as you leave. If you intend to give an inmate any reading material, ask the Facility Manager for prior approval before you start your activity.
5. You are subject to search before you go to the housing unit or activity area.
6. Stay on a first name basis with the inmates. Do not share any of your personal information such as your telephone number or address. If you decide to correspond with an inmate, contact the Facility Manager for prior approval.
7. Be aware that inmates will test you. They may try to manipulate or con you into doing something for them. If you don't break seemingly minor rules, you won't be asked or pressured to break the major rules. Helping to break the rules is illegal and it is a sign of weakness. Don't jeopardize yourself or your program. Friends Outside works in all three detention facilities. Any inmate can ask for assistance from Friends Outside by filling out an inmate request form.
8. NEVER give legal advice.
9. Don't participate with inmates in discussions berating the detention, programs, personnel or procedure. If you believe an inmate is not receiving the care/service he or she needs, discuss it with your supervisor, volunteer coordinator or programs director. DO NOT act on your own initiative. Contact the deputy in charge of that housing unit immediately.
10. You will not give anything to an inmate unless approved by the housing unit deputy or facility manager.
11. MOST IMPORTANTLY, stick to the task at hand. If you have a problem or question, talk to your supervisor or feel free to call the program director and volunteer coordinator. Creative ideas are always welcome. ENJOY YOUR WORK – your presence in the detention facility is most welcome by both staff and inmates and appreciated by everyone concerned. Inmates and community will benefit from your efforts.

B. DEALING WITH HARASSMENT AND DISCRIMINATION.

Employees making a report will be taken seriously, informed of their rights and of the availability of outside assistance, such as the State Office of Equal Employment Opportunity should it be required.

2. Supervisors and Managers shall keep complete notes on incidents they investigate and will encourage others to keep notes. They shall also keep all involved persons and the Division Commander informed of the action being taken.
3. Supervisors and Managers should be sensitive to harassment and discrimination and affirmatively raise the issue to employees by:
 - a. Expressing strong disapproval;

 - a. If the harassment originated from the employee's Supervisor, the employee may contact the Supervisor's Manager regarding the harassment.
 - b. Notification may be verbal or written. If verbal notification is used, the employee may be requested to write a memo at a later time should the Supervisor determine the necessity for such documentation.

V. PROCEDURE 2.
