THE GOLEM OF HOLLYWOOD A STUDENT CONVERSATION WITH AUTHOR JESSE KELLERMAN

Best-selling local author, Jesse Kellerman, will join us on November 17th for a book talk. His novel, The Golem of Hollywood, is a suspenseful murder-mystery thriller with a Jewish subtext. It weaves together old and new and fuses story lines from Genesis, to 16th Century Prague, to modern-day Los Angeles.

Jesse Kellerman grew up in Los Angeles -- he holds a BA in psychology from Harvard University (2001) and an MFA in playwriting from Brandeis University (2003). His novels include Sunstroke (2006), Trouble (2007), The Genius (2008), and The Executor (2010).

The Golem of Hollywood (2014) is a collaboration with his father, renowned novelist and psychologist Jonathan Kellerman. Jesse lives in Berkeley, CA with his wife and son.

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 17TH

6:30 PM, Goldberg Room, 297 Boalt Hall

The Berkeley Institute will be offering complementary copies of The Golem of Hollywood at the event. Cal Student ID required for entry.
