A REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

The Pitfalls and Rewards of Writing about the Israeli-Palestinian Conflict

Thursday, April 21th | 5:00-6:30 pm | Goldberg, 297 Boalt Hall

Stanford Lecturer and journalist Janine Zacharia will lead us in a conversation about the current situation in Israel and the Middle East. She will reflect on the current climate and share insight from her recent trip to the region.

Janine Zacharia has served as both the Middle East Correspondent for the Washington Post, and the Washington Bureau Chief for the Jerusalem Post. She was also a reporter for Reuters Israel and Bloomberg News. During her time at the Washington Post, Zacharia reported throughout the Middle East, not only in the West Bank and Gaza Strip but in Egypt, Jordan, Lebanon, Iraq, Bahrain, Saudi Arabia, the UAE, and Turkey. As a diplomatic correspondent, she traveled around the world with the former U.S. Secretary of State Condoleezza Rice, and other senior administration and military officials.
