

BERKELEY CENTER FOR LAW & TECHNOLOGY

Established in 1995, the Berkeley Center for Law & Technology (BCLT) is the focal point at the University of California, Berkeley, School of Law for teaching, research, convening, and student activities on issues at the intersection of law and technology.

The wide-ranging scholarship of BCLT's faculty frames and advances the law and technology discussion. Equally noteworthy is BCLT's global community of students, alumni, practicing attorneys, policymakers, and scholars, who come together at BCLT to teach, to learn, and to develop the legal principles that are shaping — and being shaped by — our technological future.

Situated in the San Francisco Bay Area, BCLT capitalizes on its location:

- at the world's foremost public research university;
- surrounded by biotech and Internet innovation;
- on the Pacific Rim, enhancing its global outlook.

BCLT was the first center of its kind. Now entering its third decade, BCLT is continuing to grow, expanding the law school curriculum to better prepare students for practice, convening the legal community for dialogue around vital issues, developing programs that link Berkeley Law and Bay Area startups, and broadening the school's international relationships.

A Scope as Wide as the Internet

Starting with a focus on intellectual property, BCLT has expanded over the years to develop an equally deep expertise on privacy. Our activities now encompass the full range of technology law, including cybercrime and cybersecurity, biotech, entertainment law, telecommunications regulation, and many other areas of constitutional, regulatory, and business law related to innovation and the Internet.

Intellectual Property

Over the years, BCLT's pioneering intellectual property program has provided not only an unmatched classroom education for our students but also a multitude of conferences and other events where scholars, attorneys, and policymakers meet to consider the complex and dynamic issues arising in the field of intellectual property.

Privacy and Cybersecurity

The Berkeley Law faculty includes leading privacy experts with concentrations spanning international and comparative privacy law, consumer privacy, cybercrime, and the law of government surveillance. In addition to teaching, research, and writing, BCLT faculty directors work with corporations and non-profits and testify at legislative hearings and other governmental forums.

Digital Entertainment

BCLT is exploring the challenges raised as sports and entertainment law responds to the digital revolution. Conferences and networking opportunities as well as innovative courses such as seminars on music law and video game law provide students an introduction to this diverse and rapidly changing field.

A Global Perspective

In today's interconnected world, technology law issues are global in scope. Recognizing this, BCLT collaborates with international scholars, lawyers, and public officials to compare IP and regulatory regimes and to confront issues surrounding the international development of technology law. BCLT has strong working relationships with universities around the world, including Tel Aviv University, Israel; Renmin University, Beijing; Peking University, Beijing; and the Institute for Information Law, University of Amsterdam.

"Teaching, scholarship, convening, and student activities – these are the core functions of BCLT. Through a uniquely rich catalogue of courses, we train tomorrow's leaders in technology law. We support our faculty directors' groundbreaking research and writing. With our ever-expanding community of practitioners and scholars, we convene yearly a series of must-attend conferences. We support a host of student-led activities. In Europe and Asia, we are expanding our international engagement. Our Startup@BerkeleyLaw initiative focuses on legal issues crucial to the start-up ecosystem of the Bay Area. For all these reasons, Berkeley is the place to come for a law and technology education."

—Jim Dempsey, BCLT Executive Director

Curriculum

Berkeley Law offers a remarkably rich curriculum on technology issues: over 20 courses a year, ranging from the intellectual property survey class to the intensive learning experience provided by the Samuelson Law, Technology & Public Policy Clinic to advanced courses and seminars on patent prosecution, antitrust, privacy, cybercrime, biotech, telecoms, the law affecting the entertainment industry — even a course on wine law.

Annually, BCLT faculty directors reassess the curriculum to ensure that it covers emerging topics that our students will encounter in practice. In 2015-16, Berkeley added two new technology law courses: Patent Litigation II, focused on proceedings before the Patent Trial and Appeal Board, and the Berkeley IP Lab, with both practicum and classroom components, pairing Berkeley Law students with startups, supervised by practicing lawyers from leading firms in the Bay Area. In 2016-17, we are offering three new courses:

Privacy Litigation

Leading practitioners, one from the plaintiff side and one from the defense, will co-teach this course, which will take students through the trajectory of a privacy class action lawsuit, from complaint drafting to settlement negotiations.

Technology for Lawyers

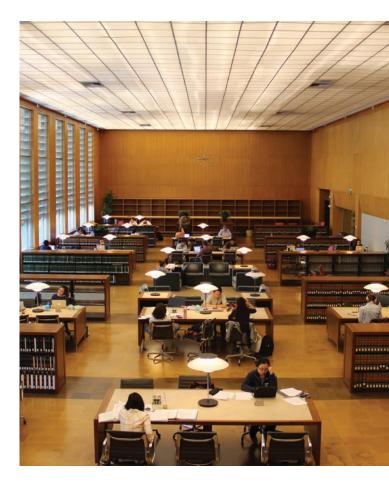

A one-credit course explaining foundational technologies that every lawyer should understand.

Negotiating Hollywood Contracts

Linda Lichter, who has negotiated deals for Hollywood's most successful filmmakers, will introduce Berkeley students to the legal and business issues surrounding the negotiation of entertainment agreements.

Law & Technology Certificate

The Law & Technology Certificate recognizes a student's sustained commitment to technology law through successful completion of a prescribed number of techrelated courses plus participation in a student-led activity. The curricular requirements emphasize depth and breadth while affording students flexibility in adapting their course of study to a range of career paths in this growing field.

Intellectual Property

15th Annual Intellectual Property Scholars Conference (IPSC)

August 6-7, 2015 – DePaul University, Chicago, IL

BCLT co-sponsored the 2015 IPSC, a full two-day program in which IP scholars from across the country came together to present and discuss a wide range of in-progress works.

US-China IP Conference

October 8-9, 2015 – Berkeley, CA Expanded in 2015 to two days, this conference brought together senior policymakers, academics and practitioners from China and the U.S. This annual event is co-hosted by Loyola Law School, Los Angeles; BCLT; and the Renmin University IP Academy, Beijing.

ChIPs Women in Global IP Summit: Tenth Anniversary Celebration

October 27-28, 2015 – Washington, DC

BCLT co-sponsored the ChIPs 2015 Summit, celebrating the organization's tenth anniversary and bringing together hundreds of women from private and public corporations, academia, law firms, the judiciary, government agencies, and public interest organizations, to build relationships and engage in dialogue on cutting edge issues relating to intellectual property.

7th Annual Patent Law and Policy Conference

November 6, 2015 – Washington, D.C. BCLT and Georgetown University Law Center collaborate to present this unique program, with experts from practice, the academy, government, and the judiciary.

16th Annual Advanced Patent Law Institute: Silicon Valley (APLI:SV)

December 10-11, 2015 – Palo Alto, CA

Co-organized by BCLT and Stanford Law School, the APLI brings together a nationally recognized faculty of district judges, academics, litigation experts, patent attorneys, and senior IP counsel from major corporations for an in-depth look at the latest developments in the prosecution and litigation of patents.

Patent Damages Workshop

March 3, 2016 – Berkeley, CA This full day workshop brought together law professors and academic economists, judges, patent litigators, testifying experts, and in-house counsel, to clarify areas of consensus and disagreement regarding the analysis of patent damages.

The 20th Annual BCLT/BTLJ Symposium: "Software IP – Intellectual Property Protections for Computer Programs: Past, Present, and Future"

April 14-15, 2016 – Berkeley, CA In the aftermath of the Supreme Court's decision on patentability in Alice v. CLS Bank and with the Oracle v. Google copyright case in the background, this two-day event brought together law and economics scholars, industry representatives, and practicing lawyers to consider the roles that patent, copyright, and other forms of IP are and should be playing in the legal protection of computer software.

Privacy and Cybersecurity

Cybersecurity Incidents – Liability and Response

July 23, 2015 – San Francisco, CA BCLT and Morrison & Foerster cosponsored this event, which examined the issues that arise in responding to a data breach, including breach notification, class actions and standing, and cybersecurity insurance, while representatives from the FBI and the Secret Service explained how to interface with their agencies.

Multistakeholder Meeting on Vulnerability Disclosure

September 29, 2015 – Berkeley, CA BCLT hosted the first meeting of a process convened by the National Telecommunications and Information Administration to address the challenges of cybersecurity vulnerability disclosure and enhance collaboration between security researchers and software and system developers and owners.

Amsterdam Privacy Conference and Privacy Law Scholars Conference – Europe

October 23-26, 2015 – Amsterdam BCLT co-sponsored the Amsterdam Privacy Conference and replicated its Privacy Law Scholars Conference in a European venue, with twentyfour papers workshopped in an interdisciplinary environment, fostering greater connections between academia and practice.

Digital Health: Rethinking Healthcare in the Digital World

November 5, 2015 – Palo Alto, CA BCLT co-sponsored this event with White & Case, examining the unique intellectual property and privacy issues that arise as digital technologies and life sciences converge in the delivery of healthcare.

8th Annual Privacy Lecture: "Is Personal Information a Public Good?"

November 6, 2015 – Berkeley, CA Alessandro Acquisti, a pioneer in the privacy field, invoked the methods of traditional economic analysis to argue that more data and less privacy are not always the best, either in terms of aggregate or individual welfare.

Responsible Uses of Open Data: Government and the Private Sector

November 20-21, 2015 – New York University, New York, NY
The conference, a follow-on to BCLT's April 2015 symposium, examined both the normative challenges associated with the open data movement, including equitable access and privacy and other civil liberties issues, and the obligations of commercial holders of data to make their holdings available for public and research purposes.

Electronics and IT Industry Forum: Legal and Regulatory Challenges

December 1, 2015 – Palo Alto, CA BCLT co-sponsored this event with Covington & Burling, featuring FTC Commissioner Terrell McSweeny and former U.S. Attorney General Eric Holder.

Workshop on Transborder Government Access Demands: MLATs and Beyond

February 3-4, 2016 – Washington, DC As part of an ongoing discussion about improving the procedures for transborder government demands for communications data, BCLT convened and chaired this meeting of a working group comprised of academics, civil liberties advocates, and Internet companies, with input from invited government officials.

5th Annual BCLT Privacy Law Forum: Silicon Valley

March 11, 2016 – Palo Alto, CA Leading academics and practitioners discussed the latest developments in privacy law and explored real world privacy law problems.

9th Annual Privacy Law Scholars Conference (PLSC)

June 2-3, 2016 – Washington, DC Organized jointly by BCLT and the George Washington University Law School, PLSC has become the privacy event of the year. The 2016 conference assembled a wide array of privacy law scholars and practitioners from around the world to discuss current issues and foster greater connections between academia and practice.

Privacy Shield: A Discussion

June 8, 2016

BCLT and Paul Hastings co-hosted senior Commerce Department official Justin Antonipillai for this discussion of the U.S.-EU Privacy Shield and its likely role in trans-Atlantic transfers of personal data.

A Global Perspective

US-China IP Summit 2015

October 8-9, 2015 - Berkeley, CA

In 2015, we expanded this multinational conference to two days, again bringing together senior policymakers, leading academics, and practitioners from China and the U.S. to compare developments and to explore the increasingly important relationships between IP protections in the two countries.

Privacy Law Scholars Conference – Europe

October 26, 2015 – Amsterdam In 2015, BCLT expanded its Privacy Law Scholars Conference to Europe, with a workshop held at the Amsterdam Privacy Conference. Twenty-four papers were workshopped.

Law in the Global Marketplace: Intellectual Property and Related Issues

November 4, 2015 – San Francisco, CA BCLT co-sponsored this one-day conference with Hogan Lovells and Santa Clara Law School, featuring prominent government officials, inhouse counsel, and leading scholars addressing key issues in IP law across Asia, North America, and Europe.

Corporate Data and Human Rights: A Panel on Corporate Transparency and Accountability

February 18, 2016 - Berkeley, CA

In partnership with the UC Berkeley Human Rights Program, Social Science Matrix, and the Center for Technology, Society & Policy at the UC Berkeley School of Information, BCLT presented this discussion on corporate transparency and accountability around Internet surveillance and censorship.

Judicial Education

Intellectual Property in the New Technological Age

May 17-20, 2016 – Berkeley, CA
Berkeley Law has a long and productive relationship with the Federal Judicial Center (FJC). Since 1998, Professor Peter Menell and BCLT have organized with the FJC an annual intellectual property program for the federal judiciary. More than 500 judges have attended these one-week training sessions, which include lectures by leading scholars and practitioners, panels, and mock hearings.

Professor Menell has also organized for the FJC advanced programs on patent law, copyright law, trademark law, Internet law, and the interplay of IP and bankruptcy law, and he has made numerous presentations on intellectual property for circuit court and district court conferences. Professor Menell has also coordinated production of the Patent Case Management Judicial Guide. Now in its 3rd Edition, with chapters authored by Professor Menell and a team of leading practitioners, the guide is an authoritative resource for both judges and practitioners.

Digital Entertainment

Copyright 2015: A Year in Review

March 10, 2016 – San Francisco, CA
The Berkeley Law Entertainment
Networking & Development (BLEND) group is an alumni group, conceived by Professor Peter Menell and founded in Los Angeles by one of his former students, Amber Becerra ('10). BLEND's 2016 networking event brought together law students and alumni working in the entertainment industry for a multi-media review of copyright law, presented by Professor Menell.

Legal Frontiers in Digital Media

May 19-20, 2016 – Mountain View,

BCLT co-hosted the 8th annual iteration of this conference with the Media Law Resource Center, exploring emerging legal issues surrounding digital content in today's multiplatform world.

In 2015-16, Berkeley has been pleased to welcome two new scholars to its law and technology faculty and to add them as BCLT directors.

Sonia Katyal

intellectual property, civil rights, technology and new media

Sonia Katyal is Chancellor's Professor of Law. Her scholarly work focuses on intellectual property, art law, civil rights (including gender, race and sexuality), property theory, and innovation. Katyal also works on issues relating to intellectual property and indigenous people's rights, with a special focus on cultural property and trademark law in the United States and abroad. Her current projects consider the intersection between technology, internet access and civil/ human rights, including the right to information, and the intersection between gender, sexuality, and the commons. Professor Katyal has been named, based on seniority, as one of the top 25 most cited intellectual property law professors in the country. Professor Katyal is the co-author of Property Outlaws (Yale University Press, 2010) (with Eduardo Peñalver), which studies the intersection between civil disobedience and innovation in property and intellectual property frameworks. In 2008, she was awarded a grant from the Warhol Foundation for her forthcoming book, Contrabrand, which examines the relationship between art, advertising, and trademark and copyright law. In March of 2016, Professor Katyal was selected by U.S. Commerce Secretary Penny Pritzker to be part of the inaugural U.S. Commerce Department's Digital Economy Board of Advisors. Professor Katyal is also a Fellow at the Yerba Buena Center for the Arts in San Francisco, where she is part of the 2016 class of artists, activists, and scholars responding to the question, "Can We Design Freedom?"

Kenneth A. Bamberger

administrative law, technology and governance, information privacy and data governance, the first amendment

Kenneth Bamberger is the Rosalinde and Arthur Gilbert Foundation
Professor of Law at Berkeley Law. He is an expert on government regulation and corporate compliance, especially with regard to issues of technology, free expression, and information privacy. Professor Bamberger's research more generally covers risk regulation, the use of technology in regulation and compliance, and the role of private actors in regulation. In 2016, he and Professor Deirdre Mulligan were awarded the 2016 Privacy Leadership

Award by the International Association of Privacy Professionals for their comparative study of privacy regimes and corporate privacy practices, Privacy on the Ground: Driving Corporate Behavior in the United States and Europe. His current work focuses on the governance of technology design to protect public values, and the meaning of cybersecurity.

Deirdre K. Mulligan is an Associate Professor in the School of Information at UC Berkeley and a PI on the new Hewlett-funded Berkeley Center for Long-Term Cybersecurity. Professor Mulligan's research explores legal and technical means of protecting values such as privacy, freedom of expression, and fairness in emerging technical systems. With Kenneth Bamberger, she received the 2016 International Association of Privacy Professionals Leadership Award for their book, Privacy on the Ground: Driving Corporate Behavior in the United States and Europe, a study of privacy practices in large corporations in five countries. In 2015-16,

Professor Mulligan chaired a series of interdisciplinary workshops with the Computer Community Consortium to develop a research agenda around the concept of Privacy by Design. She is Chair of the Board of Directors of the Center for Democracy & Technology; a founding member of the standing committee for the Al

Jennifer M. Urban

intellectual property, privacy, copyright, information law, licensing, artists' rights, patents

Jennifer Urban is Clinical Professor of Law and director of the Samuelson Law, Technology & Public Policy Clinic. Her work considers how the legal, private-ordering, and social systems that govern technology interact with values such as free expression, access to knowledge, freedom to create or innovate, and privacy. With Joe Karaganis, Professor Urban conceived and directs The Takedown Project, a consortium of scholars studying takedown regimes around the world. www.takedownproject.org. Recent research includes a three-part empirical study, with Karaganis and Brianna L.

Schofield, of the DMCA notice-and-takedown system. The studies reveal notice-and-takedown's importance to copyright holders, online service providers, and the online ecosystem, along with some weaknesses. Professor Urban's recent paper with Mark Lemley shows that judges with more experience handling patent cases are more likely to rule for defendants. Recent papers with Chris Hoofnagle empirically question longstanding research used to support the dominant "notice and choice" regime in privacy regulations.

Past

Kevin Hickey, 2014-16 BCLT Microsoft Research Fellow, is currently a law clerk for the Hon. Phyllis J. Hamilton, Chief Judge for the federal District Court for the Northern District of California. Kevin's scholarship at Berkeley focused on copyright law and theory. His works include Reframing Similarity Analysis in Copyright, 93 Washington University Law Review (forthcoming), and Consent, User Reliance, and Fair Use, 16 Yale Journal of Law & Technology 397 (2014).

Patrick Goold, 2012-14 BCLT Microsoft Fellow, is currently IP Fellow at Chicago-Kent College of Law, where he teaches international intellectual property and European Union law. His research interests include competition law, IP law, public international law, and legal theory. His most recent articles have appeared in the Virginia Law Review, Boston University Law Review, and the Berkeley Technology Law Journal.

Michael Mattioli, 2011-12 BCLT Microsoft Fellow, is currently an Associate Professor at the Indiana University Maurer School of Law, where he teaches contracts and a variety of IP courses. His scholarship examines how new forms of knowledge-sharing and collective licensing influence patenting, industrial organization, and the process of innovation itself.

Jonas Anderson, 2009-11 BCLT Microsoft Fellow, is currently Associate Professor of Law at American University, Washington College of Law, where he teaches courses in patent law, trade secret law, and real property. Recent articles appear in Washington Law Review, Vanderbilt Law Review, and University of Pennsylvania Law Review.

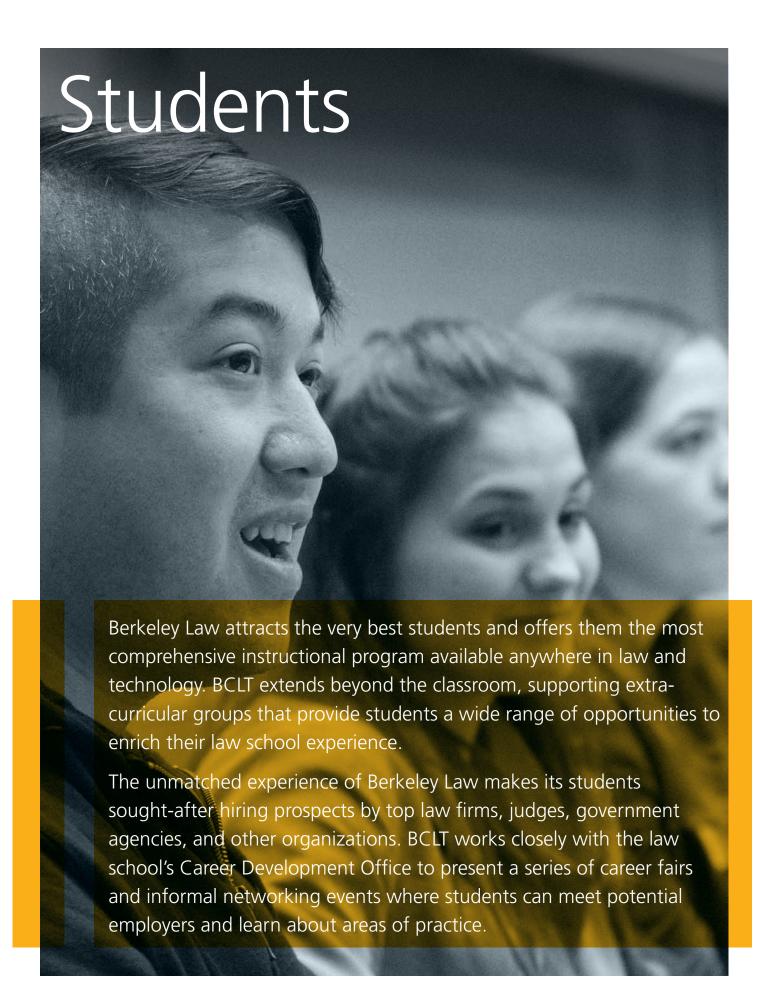

Aaron Perzanowski, 2008-09 BCLT Microsoft Fellow, is Professor of Law at Case Western Reserve University of Law where he teaches intellectual property and telecommunications law. His research, which examines the influence of law and technology on the creation and exchange of information goods, has been published in law reviews and top specialty journals at Harvard, UC Berkeley, University of Pennsylvania, Northwestern University, UCLA, University of Minnesota, and UC Davis.

Stuart Graham, 2007-09 BCLT Kauffman Foundation Fellow in Social Science and the Law, served as the first Chief Economist of the USPTO. He is currently an Associate Professor at Georgia Tech Scheller College of Business. He teaches and conducts research on the economics of the patent system, IP strategies and transactions, and the relationship of IP to entrepreneurship and the commercialization of new technologies.

Ted Sichelman, 2008-09 BCLT Kauffman Foundation Legal Research Fellow, is Professor of Law at the University of San Diego School of Law, teaching intellectual property law. His current research includes exploring theories of patent remedies, the effects of the patent system on entrepreneurial companies, and the role of patent law in technology commercialization.

Miriam Marcowitz-Bitton, 2007-08 BCLT Microsoft Fellow, is a Law Professor at Bar-llan University in Israel. She writes and teaches in the fields of intellectual property law, law and technology, and property. Her articles have appeared in law and technology journals at Texas, North Carolina, Fordham, UC Berkeley, Cardozo, and Michigan. Her works in Hebrew include Database Protection in Israel (2014) and the forthcoming book Israeli Patent Law: Theoretical and Comparative Perspectives.

Student Events

For students interested in law and technology, BCLT provides a wealth of information, guidance, and support, from their first days on campus to graduation and beyond.

Law & Technology Program Orientation

BCLT welcomes incoming students with information on the law and technology program as well as related extracurricular opportunities at the law school.

Fall Reception

BCLT hosts an annual fall networking mixer for law students and lawyers from top law firms in the Bay Area.

Spring Career Fair

BCLT introduces representatives from leading law firms to law students interested in technology law.

Summer Mixer

BCLT brings together Berkeley Law students with summer jobs in the Bay Area and lawyers from top law firms for a summer networking opportunity.

Summer LL.M. Networking

BCLT offers this opportunity for attorneys from Bay Area law firms to meet the extraordinary participants in the Berkeley summer LL.M. program.

BCLT/BTLJ Law & Tech Speaker Series

Every Tuesday and Thursday when classes are in session, BCLT and BTLJ bring to the school for a lunchtime talk prominent practitioners who share with students their real-world experience and practical legal knowledge on a wide variety of law and technology-related topics.

Student Groups

BCLT provides administrative and financial support to eight student groups. These groups concentrate on specific legal skills or areas of the law, allowing students to supplement their classroom education. BCLT also provides primary funding to the Moot Court program at Berkeley for its Intellectual Property Law, Technology Law, and Entertainment Law Competitions.

BERC@Boalt

BERC@Boalt is the law school branch of the Berkeley Energy & Resources Collaborative, a student-led organization that aims to connect and educate the UC Berkeley energy and resources community. BERC@Boalt helps to inform law students about current legal practice and advances in the fields of energy, climate and clean technologies. It does this through the development of curriculum, the continuing expansion of an alumni and professional network, the promotion of events and discussions centered on green issues, and the creation of a Career Guide for Energy, Climate and CleanTech Law.

Berkeley Technology Law Journal

The Berkeley Technology Law Journal (BTLJ) is a studentrun publication that covers emerging issues in the areas of intellectual property, privacy and cyberlaw. In 2016, Washington & Lee Law School Library ranked BTLJ as #1 among specialized journals in both the IP and the Science, Technology and Computing categories. Since 1986, BTLJ has kept judges, policymakers, practitioners, and the academic community abreast of the dynamic field of technology law. The Journal's membership of approximately 150 students publishes three issues of scholarly work each year, plus the Annual Review of Law and Technology. The Annual Review is a distinctive issue of the Journal published in collaboration with BCLT and is comprised entirely of student-written pieces discussing the most important IP and technology law developments.

Each year, BTLJ co-hosts the Annual BCLT/BTLJ Symposium. For each conference, BTLJ publishes a symposium issue, featuring articles by presenters at the conference. BTLJ also co-sponsors BCLT's twice weekly law and technology speakers series.

Berkeley Information Privacy Law Association

The Berkeley Information Privacy Law Association (BIPLA) serves as a forum for students, faculty and others interested in the various facets of information privacy law. The Association organizes roundtables, talks, and other events. It aims to develop a strong network of people committed to overcoming privacy challenges posed by the digital world.

boalt.org

boalt.org is Berkeley Law's public interest and technology group. It meets regularly to network, share resources and ideas, build community, and discuss trends in law and technology. It works with the Boalt community and with other campus initiatives to foster collaboration and improve legal innovation, design, and technology.

Consumer Advocacy and Protection Society

The Consumer Advocacy and Protection Society (CAPS) is dedicated to promoting consumer protection law at Berkeley. Its mission is to connect students interested in consumer protection issues, organize and host consumer-related events, network with the greater consumer law community, and promote the availability of courses and clinical opportunities related to consumer protection law. Its listserv delivers information about consumer protection jobs and major developments in consumer law.

Boalt Healthcare and Biotech Law Society

Members of the Boalt Healthcare and Biotech Law Society (BHBLS) examine and analyze the intersection between law, society, policy, and science. Their mission is to explore emerging health/biotech issues and to stimulate the intellectual and professional development of Boalt students interested in these subjects. They do this by organizing networking events with practitioners, promoting health and biotech courses at the law school, and increasing interaction between the law school and other healthcare and biotech-related institutions at UC Berkeley and beyond.

Patent Law Society

The Patent Law Society (PLS) provides a forum for students interested in practicing patent law to discuss and debate the latest developments in this specialty and to interact, network and exchange ideas with others interested in the field. The group invites patent law practitioners to the school to share their experiences with students.

Sports and Entertainment Law Society

The mission of the Sports and Entertainment Law Society (SELS) is to educate the Berkeley Law community about legal opportunities and issues in the entertainment and sports industries. SELS creates opportunities for students to network with each other and with legal professionals in these industries. During the academic year, SELS sponsors quest lectures and social events.

Partnerships

BCLT has expanded its presence within and beyond the law school, developing relationships locally, nationally, and internationally. BCLT works closely with other programs at the Law School, including the Samuelson Law, Technology & Public Policy Clinic and the Berkeley Center for Law, Business, and the Economy. BCLT is also involved in crossdisciplinary programs with other schools and departments on the UC Berkeley campus.

Samuelson Law, Technology & Public Policy Clinic

Founded in 2001, the Samuelson Law, Technology and Public Policy Clinic (SLTPPC) provided the first opportunity in legal academia for students to represent public interest clients in key debates and litigation at the intersection of law and technology. Today, it is the leader in a growing movement of clinics that give law students hands-on training in advocacy in the areas of IP, technology, and civil liberties.

Berkeley Center for Law, Business and the Economy

The Berkeley Center for Law, Business and the Economy (BCLBE) is Berkeley Law's hub for rigorous, relevant, empirically based research and education on the interrelationships of law, business, and the economy. BCLBE's areas of focus include technology innovation and commercialization and financing in the tech sector. BCLT and BCLBE collaborate on events and programs exploring the continuum of legal issues crucial to innovation and the start-up ecosystem.
