Folks-

We also just received comments and edits from USCIS on a separate version. Please combine the documents and try to address the USCIS comments too.

Thanks,

Can your teams please work together to review and address the DOS comments and edits on the endorse or espouse paper tomorrow. I would like to get this back by 4pm so I can review and get back to the group by 5pm (I have a hard stop tomorrow) but let me know first thing if that is not reasonable. I can't see the comments on my phone.

Thanks!

A. Office of Foreign Assets Control (OFAC) Orders on the Taliban

On July 4, 1999, President Clinton issued Executive Order No. 13129 which placed a comprehensive assets freeze and trade embargo against the Taliban. In response to a finding that the Taliban had allowed territory under its control to be used as a safe haven and base of operations for Bin Laden and Al-Qaeda who were committing acts of terrorism against the United States and its interests, the President declared an international “emergency” and threat to United States national security. This order was issued under the authority of the International Emergency Economic Powers Act (IEEPA) at 50 U.S.C. §§ 1701-1706, the National Emergencies Act under 50 U.S.C. § 1601 et seq., and 3 U.S.C. § 301. Pursuant to these authorities, the United States Treasury Department’s Office of Foreign Assets Control (OFAC) issued the Taliban Sanctions regulations at 31 C.F.R. Part 545. These regulations blocked all property in which the Taliban has an interest, directly or indirectly, that is in the United States or that comes within the possession or control of United States persons, including their overseas branches. Unless authorized by OFAC, all commercial and trade transactions between United States persons and the Taliban were prohibited.

On September 23, 2001, President Bush issued Executive Order No. 13324. This order specifically declared a national emergency under IEEPA as a result of the attacks on September 11, 2001. The order also initiated a list of individuals and entities whose assets were to be frozen because of their known support of Al-Qaeda and terrorism in general. In essence, this order blocked United States-based assets of organizations and individuals designated by the State Department as having participated in or aided terrorist acts around the world. On July 2, 2002, following the United States invasion of Afghanistan, President Bush issued Executive Order No. 13268 which ended the emergency declared for Afghanistan in Order No. 13129. This emergency was halted due to the overthrow of the Taliban regime and its control of Afghanistan as had been the case when order No. 13129 was issued by President Clinton. However, Order No. 13268 also amended Order 13224 to add the Taliban and Mohammed "Mullah" Omar to that OFAC list. These blocks remain in place today.
