

Miller Fellow: Rebecca Ho

Faculty Sponsor: Professor Vinod K. Aggarwal

Project: Berkeley Academic Freedom in a Global Perspective Roundtable Series

Rebecca Ho is a 3L at Berkeley Law interested in international litigation and the international protection of intellectual property rights. She is currently President of the Federalist Society at Berkeley Law and Senior Student Publications Editor of the Berkeley Technology Law Journal. She spent her 2L summer at Quinn Emanuel, where she conducted legal research on a variety of topics, including the Hague Evidence Convention.

Rebecca holds a B.S. in Electrical Engineering and a B.S. in Systems Engineering from Washington University in St. Louis. She also holds an M.S. in Electrical and Computer Engineering from The Johns Hopkins University. Prior to law school, Rebecca worked for over three years as an antennas engineer at Lockheed Martin.

For her Miller Fellowship, Rebecca is working with Professor Vinod K. Aggarwal on a newly created initiative, the Berkeley Academic Freedom in a Global Perspective Roundtable Series. The 2022-23 Series will engage UC Berkeley faculty and graduate students to consider how concerns regarding freedom of expression impact their research and teaching. It will also provide an opportunity to bring researchers specifically focused on freedom of speech issues to campus. By looking at freedom of expression from a global perspective, the 2022-23 Series aims to show the pros and cons of efforts to limit dialogue in different parts of the world.
