

Miller Fellow: Anthony Ghaly

Faculty Sponsor: Professor Laurel E. Fletcher

Project: Human Rights in Crisis: The North-South Hierarchy of the International Human Rights Movement

Anthony Ghaly is a first year PhD student in Jurisprudence and Social Policy and a graduate of Berkeley Law (JD'23). As a law student, Anthony spent four semesters as an advanced clinical student in the International Human Rights Law Clinic, worked as a graduate student researcher and summer fellow at Berkeley's Human Rights Center, served as a submissions editor for the Berkeley Journal of International Law, and held legal internships at the International Federation for Human Rights (FIDH) and WITNESS. Anthony's research interests lie at the intersection of international human rights law, international criminal law, and emerging technologies.

Anthony's Miller Fellowship supports Professor Laurel E. Fletcher's international human rights research.
