

CLAW WELCOMES MARC PILOTIN!

Regional Solicitor of Labor (Region IX)
U.S. Department of Labor

The Office of the Solicitor (SOL), Region IX, of the U.S. Department of Labor (USDOL) litigates cases (in federal district court and administrative courts) to enforce federal laws that protect workers who have experienced wage theft, retaliation, unsafe workplaces, and other illegal employment practices. Many of their cases involve workers particularly vulnerable to labor exploitation, including immigrants, workers on H-2A and H-2B visas, and employees misclassified as independent contractors, across a variety of low-wage industries, such as construction, logistics, food service, agriculture, home care, and mining. More recently, the Solicitor's Office has been in the news for its work prosecuting child labor violations.

Prior to his role as Regional Solicitor of Labor at USDOL, Mr. Pilotin (a Berkeley Law alum!) served as Governor Newsom's appointee to head the legal department of the California Labor and Workforce Development Agency (the largest state labor agency in the nation), and previously litigated employment and antitrust class actions at Lief Cabraser Heimann & Bernstein. Don't miss this opportunity to meet Mr. Pilotin, hear about the compelling work of the USDOL Solicitor's Office, and learn more about his accomplished career in the private and public sectors!
