

Miller Fellow: Milton Zerman

Faculty Sponsor: Professor Vinod Aggarwal

Project: Berkeley Academic Freedom in a Global Perspective Roundtable Series

Milton is a third-year JD student pursuing a Certificate of Specialization in International Law. He also attended UC Berkeley as an undergraduate, graduating in 2020 with a B.A. in History. He has experience working full-time in both houses of Congress, including as a Senate legislative staffer focused on foreign affairs, national security, and defense policy. At Berkeley Law, Milton has served as president of both the Jewish Student Association and the Federalist Society and received the Jurisprudence Award in Foreign Relations Law in Spring 2024. Throughout law school, he also interned for the Senate Judiciary Committee and the 9th Circuit Court of Appeals and has worked as a research assistant for multiple professors.

As a Miller Fellow, Milton is working with Professor Vinod Aggarwal on the Berkeley Academic Freedom in a Global Perspective Roundtable Series.
